Fri, 19 Aug 2011 23:59:00 GMT Dambudzo Marechera and The House of Hunger - Culture Trip - Dambudzo Marechera (4 June 1952 – 18 August 1987) was a Zimbabwean novelist, short story writer, playwright and poet. His short career produced a book of stories, two novels

(one published posthumously), a book of plays, prose, and poetry, and a collection of poetry (also posthumous). Fri, 30 Nov 2018 19:36:00 GMT Dambudzo Marechera - Wikipedia - House of Hunger – both the novella and the loosely linked stories that accompanied it when it came out in book form – is a prescient critique of militarized and masculinist authoritarianism. As Marechera saw back in the 1970s, the way in which one resists will be the way in which one is governed. The – black fist of power – will reproduce the violence that it claims to end; it – would fill ... GMT Dambudzo Marechera's "The House of Hunger" novel still ... - The House of Hunger consists of nine stories, so linked in their themes that the book can certainly pass as a novel, as Doris Lessing writes in her critique. 2 The title story, by far the longest in the book and described by Marechera as a novella, Tue, 07 Jan 2014 14:01:00 GMT The African e-Journals Project has digitized full text of ... - Dambudzo Marechera . Rusape (1952) - Harare (1987), Zimbabwe. In his novella, The House of Hunger (1978), and interviews, Marechera often falsely suggests that his father was either run over by "a 20th century train" or "came home with a knife sticking from his back" or "was found in the hospital mortuary with his body riddled with bullets". Thu, 22 Nov 2018 00:04:00 GMT Four poems by Dambudzo Marechera | BUALA - "Like overhearing a scream", is how Doris Lessing described reading the Zimbabwean author Dambudzo Marechera's 1978 book The House of Hunger. Comprising a novella and a series of satellite stories ... A brief survey of the short story, part 54: Dambudzo Marechera - The House of Hunger in particular is knee-deep in imagery, meaning that the reader often finds it a little too much to take in. This is all intentional, of course; one senses that Marechera is trying to reconcile the violence and bloodshed of this period through a written style that is just as impulsive and forceful. The House of Hunger: Amazon.co.uk: Dambudzo Marechera: Books -
